Summary

SUBHASHIS GHOSH

2nd Year Computer Science Student | Aspiring Developer

Hello! I'm Subhashis Ghosh, a passionate and motivated 2nd year computer science student with a strong drive to create innovative solutions through technology. My journey in the world of programming began with fascination and has grown into a deep-seated commitment to honing my skills and contributing meaningfully to the digital realm.

Education: Currently pursuing my Bachelor's degree in Computer Science at C.V Raman Global University, I've been immersed in a comprehensive curriculum that encompasses a range of foundational concepts, from algorithms and data structures to software engineering principles.

Technical Proficiency: With a solid grasp of programming languages such as Python, Java, and C++, I have already delved into various hands-on projects that have sharpened my problem-solving abilities. My exposure to web development, mobile app development, and database management has equipped me with a versatile skill set that I am eager to further refine.
